

Trading involves significant risk, and many will incur losses. All content on this site is for educational purposes and should not be taken as financial advice. Decisions regarding securities, commodities, and other markets carry risks and should be made with the guidance of qualified financial professionals. Past performance is not indicative of future results.

Hypothetical or simulated performance results have limitations and do not reflect actual trading. Since these trades are not executed, the outcomes may over-or-underestimate the impact of market factors like liquidity. These programs are designed with the benefit of hindsight and historical data, and no representation is made that any account will achieve similar results.

Client testimonials are genuine but based on their personal decision-making and use of our tools. These are not necessarily representative of other clients and are not a guarantee of future success.

As providers of technical analysis tools for charting platforms, we do not access personal trading accounts or brokerage statements of our users. We have no reason to believe our customers perform better or worse than traders in general based on our tools.

Charts used on this site are by TradingView, on which many of our tools are built. TradingView® is a registered trademark of TradingView, Inc. www.TradingView.com. TradingView is not affiliated with the owner, developer, or provider of these services. This summary does not encompass our full disclaimer. Please read the full disclaimer for complete details.

© 2024 BullTrading Asset Management SAPI de CV and Akuma Epic Studios.